DON'T WANT TO BE DISTURBED IN MACHINE'S WORK

Attorneys for Adams in Gubernatorial Contest Occupy Time With Witnesses From Outside Precincts Avoiding Tenderloin.

CAN'T SHAKE EXPERT TESTIMONY

Special to the Gazette.

DENVER, Feb. 4.—Governor Adams' attorneys are still leading the ballot issue in the gubernatorial contest. For three days and nights they have introduced testimony relative to the voting in suburban Denver precincts and have carefully evaded touching the precincts of the lower wards of Denver where the Democratic machine got in its deadly work. Not a ballot from the so-called lower wards has been offered in evidence; not a witness from the tenderloin district has been put upon the stand. Someone is evidently afraid to play with the fire.

Evidence of the Weakest.

Today and tonight their witnesses with one exception came from Valverde, a residence suburb of Denver. Some of these witnesses succeeded in wholly or partially identifying their ballots and others failed. Some who picked their ballots from those designated by the handwriting experts as written by one or two persons were judges of election who assisted many disabled and illiterate voters. This sort of evidence only served to prove the efficiency of the experts.

The Adams attorneys succeeded in convincing the joint investigating committee of the legality of a few of the ballots classed as fraudulent by the experts but that they would be able to do this was expected from the outset. No expert claimed that he was infallible nor did the Peabody attorneys expect it. They necessarily did their work hurriedly and Attorney Wahlton has stated repeatedly since the contest began that he expected them to fail on about 10 per cent of the ballots. It is now apparent that they did better than this.

Milt Smith's Bluff.

Attorney Milton H. Smith stated at the beginning of the presentation of the Adams side of the case that if the case is closed 15,000 votes or frauds he proposed to bring 15,000 witnesses before the committee to disprove these contentions. Three days and nights have passed since then and the Adams attorneys have put about 30 witnesses on the stand. At that rate they will bring about 140 witnesses before the committee in the 14 days allotted for the presentation of their case. It will be a difficult matter to make even a semblance of a case to prove that there are 140 illegal ballots in the thousands classed as fraudulent but it is doubted now that they will be able to do this since some of their "star" witnesses are falling down ingloriously.

The ludicrous operatic of the Adams attorneys thus far has been to put judges on the witness stand who wrote ballots for illiterate and disabled people. These judges naturally very easily identified the ballots which they wrote and which are classified by the handwriting experts as having been written by the same person. Such ballots were found in bunches by themselves, kept apart from all others and marked as exhibits when they were experted, and therefore there was little difficulty in establishing the fact that they were written by the same hand.

But this does not prove nor disprove anything nor does it disprove the contentions of the Peabody counsel. It only goes to establish the competency of the experts.

Avoiding the Lower Wards.

The Democratic attorneys have skillfully avoided touching the exhibits from the lower wards where from 50 to 100 ballots written by one hand were found in every precinct. They know that the election judges did not assist that number of illiterate or disabled people and they are keeping out of dangerous ground.

Among those who testified that they were assisted by election judges are the following: Joseph M. Young, T. R. Rourke, Chas. Curtis, Jaime Lutbeck, Charles Hall, F. P. Wescott, Simon B. Hirsling, Geo. A. Wilson, Geo. S. Webb, C. O. Hatch, Wilbur Leury, J. H. Baker, A. F. Holtman, Frank C. Brown, Geo. Fuechsel, Leo. Weaver and Edward Russell. All of these witnesses are from Valverde and many of them served as election judges or clerks in the various Valverde precincts. Some of them are in the employ of the city and consequently under the direct guidance of the Democratic job gang bosses.

The joint committee will hold a session this morning because of the fact that there will be no session either of the house or the senate. Another session will be held tomorrow night as well and it is probable that the committee will then take a recess until Monday afternoon.

FOUND GUILTY OF ILLEGAL VOTING

WILLIAM C. LYONS CONVICTED IN DENVER WILL ASK FOR A NEW TRIAL—BOND DENIED. KELLY AND MUELLER CASES.

DENVER, Feb. 3.—William C. Lyons was found guilty of illegal voting by a jury in the criminal court today. He will ask for a new trial and pending a decision must remain in jail, bond being denied him by Judge Johnson.

William Kelly and Charles Mueller pleaded guilty to charges of being accessories to illegal voting and were given 90 days each in jail. The informations accused them of taking a number of women employed as restaurant waitresses to the polls and having them vote without having legally qualified.

SAFEGUARD FUNDS OF WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

ATTORNEY GENERAL MILLER RENDERS OPINION TO LEGISLATURE ON STATE INVESTMENTS IN IRRIGATION.

DENVER, Feb. 3.—It is more important to protect the trust funds of orphans and widows than it is to build irrigation ditches" is the counsel imparted by Attorney General Miller in an opinion rendered to the legislature today. The opinion concerns the right to invest trust funds and public funds in the bonds of irrigation districts. Attorney General Miller held that under the law this can be done, but he warns the legislature about the necessity of throwing safeguards around such investments, and urges that no bonds be bought until the irrigation system is built.

INGLESIDE HOME FOR WOMEN DESTROYED BY FIRE.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Fire tonight destroyed a part of the Ingleside Home for Women. In the panic among 50 inmates, Mrs. Mary Kovyttie was killed and four women were severely hurt, one of whom, Mrs. Marion Orton, may die.

SECRETARIES ANSWER TO A BREACH OF PROMISE CASE

Suit Filed Against Him Last August by Alberta S. Hart Asks for Damage in Sum of $50,000---Case Heretofore Suppressed.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—A mystery has always surrounded the filing of the case entitled Alberta S. Hart vs. Andrew W. Short which was filed in the district court August 4 last and was suppressed at that time. An answer was filed today which betrays the secret. The case was a demand for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise.

The case was always represented to be for possession of a one-third interest in 11 claims located in Gunnison county but the answer today makes a general denial of defendant's alleged contract for marriage.

The plaintiff, who was formerly a resident of this city, said in her complaint that Short promised to marry her in April, 1904, and that she gave him plenty of time to make his promise good before she commenced her action. It is expected that a replication will be filed by the plaintiff immediately and that the case will come up in the next term of court which begins next Tuesday.

Court in Two Divisions.

Judge Seeds of the district court is spending a few days in Denver preparatory to opening up the February term which commences next Tuesday. Judge Seeds will hold court in the civil division while it is the present intention to permit Judge Cunningham to utilize the jury in the trial of the criminal docket. If court is held in two divisions simultaneously as is now anticipated the city hall will be used by Judge Cunningham while Judge Seeds will have the present court room.

Cases on the Docket.

Some of the most important cases coming up are the trials of Noyce vs. Grove and Murray vs. Walsh, each involving a half interest in leases on two prominent properties. One of the principal criminal cases will be that of the people against James Waugh and Thomas Brown, who shot and killed Chris Miller and the Lebo on election day last.

In the same court defendants filed their reply to the cross-claim of the Gold Mining company in the case brought against it by Kenyon and associates, heretofore reported.

An answer and cross-complaint in the case entitled Mary A. Holland vs. the Favorite Gold Mining company et al. was filed today.

SCHARF REPLIES TO SENATOR BARD

SIGNED STATEMENT REGARDING HIS ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO INFLUENCE ACTION ON USE OF INDIAN TRUST FUNDS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Dr. E. L. Scharf, of Washington, today issued a signed statement in answer to allegations made by Senator Bard, of California, before the sub-committee of the senate on Indian affairs, that Dr. Scharf, when trying to have the appropriation for Catholic Indian missions extended two years ago, tried to influence the senator's action by promising certain support.

Dr. Scharf says:

"Senator Bard's statements, even if they were true, lose their force by reason of the long time he allowed to elapse before bringing his charges. He waited until the legislature of California discovered the right man to represent that state in the senate. When I appeared before the sub-committee two years ago Senator Bard should have denounced me then and there if he really thought the propositions that I made to him were improper. But not he. There was something doing in California and something still to be done.

"He says that Senator Bard (two years ago) informed him that he was a Presbyterian and his church was opposed to receiving government money for support of its schools.

"He failed to tell me, however," Dr. Scharf continued, "that the Presbyterian missions had received their share of the contract appropriations since the inception of the contract system. All the protestant denominations had received such appropriations but after they withdrew and the Catholic missions were the beneficiaries, they affected a holy horror at the idea."

WARSAW GETS MORE QUIETER

WARSAW, Feb. 3.—Warsaw newspapers reappeared this evening after eight days suspension of publication. They are subjected to the most severe censorship under the orders of the minister of the interior Bouligan. Most of the shops are re-opened today but only a few of the strikers returned to work.

Scattered instances of violence were reported today.

A student of the university was killed today by a soldier and strikers killed a workman who had been in communication with the military.

The workmen of a cutlery factory attempted to resume work today but the strikers entered the building and demolished the machinery. Most of the strikers apparently are not yet willing to return to work. Workmen in all the sugar factories of Poland, which number 42, struck on February 2. These factories hitherto have been working night and day to supply the troops in Manchuria.

The employes of the iron works at Soshovice struck today. Later reports from Lodz say the disturbances there ended quickly. The military fired one volley, killing two and wounding two and the rioters immediately fled. The town is now quiet. The authorities have taken extraordinary precautions to maintain order.

There is a report from Radogoszez that a mob there killed one officer and two soldiers.

A general strike begun today at Plabianeia.

SIGOURNEY'S NEW LEAD

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—W. H. Sigourney of San Francisco heads the winning column in the amateur billiard tournament for the national championship now being played here. Tonight, by winning from Rem of Chicago a rather tiresome game which lasted 53 innings, the Pacific coast man assumed the lead in the number of games won. He has a perfect score, having won all the games he has participated in thus far. His nearest opponent is Conklin of Chicago who has played in only two games, both of which he has won.

The final score in tonight's game: Sigourney 300; Rem 218.

The other games resulted:

Gardner of New York defeated Thresher of Boston 300 to 190. Schmitt of Racine defeated Stark of Brooklyn, 300 to 275.

ARRESTED CHARGED WITH FORGING SMALL CHECKS.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Charged with passing three forged checks for $10 each to which he had signed the name of the Gold Banner Mining company, a mythical company, Ernest Lambert was arrested and is now awaiting his trial. The checks were made payable to F. E. Harvey. One was drawn on the Cripple Creek State bank and the other two on the First National bank. The complaint was sworn to by E. Harvey, a restaurant keeper of this city.

NEW COMPANY INCORPORATED.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Articles of incorporation were filed with the county clerk and recorder today for the Mac and W. Mining company. The incorporators are R. E. Wilcoxson, E. L. Grayheal and W. McGuire. The incorporators, S. M. D. Jackson and Raymond Husted, are named as directors. The company is capitalized for $3,000 and the principal office is named as Pueblo.

QUIETNESS RESTORED

Troops Fire on Strikers at Lodz Killing One and Wounding Two.

SOSNOVICE STRIKE

ABOUT 40,000 MEN AT THIS PLACE ARE OUT—THEY SEIZE RAILWAY OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYERS.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—The Lokal Anzeiger's Warsaw correspondent reports that at Lodz there was a bloody encounter on Friday, the military firing on strikers and causing great havoc. In the fight several days ago the correspondent says 16 strikers were killed and 38 wounded, of whom 18 were severely wounded.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 4.—It is the intention of the government to bring Maxim Gorky and seven other authors and publicists to trial on political charges. Governor General Trepoff who received the Associated Press correspondent Friday afternoon, said:

"The whole case is now in the hands of the ministry of justice which is conducting the investigation, at the conclusion of which the procurator general will decide whether the prisoners shall be tried by a civil or military court. The story that I have ordered Gorky to be tried by court martial and shot is a baseless fabrication, invented by persons who are ignorant of Russia, or else they would know that it is impossible for a representative of the Russian administration to order any prisoner to be executed or even to decide the form of trial. Yet I am in receipt of letters daily from abroad, imploring me to spare Gorky's life.

"I repeat that I am in no wise concerned in this matter; I even do not know whether the procurator general may decide provisionally to release Gorky, as he did in the case of Hessen, Miakotin and Karefeff. I cannot, of course, reveal the exact terms of the accusation against the prisoner, but you may emphatically contradict the version of the discovery of documents implicating eight men who were to have comprised a provisional government."

Turning to the question of the present aspect of affairs the governor general said:

"We have every reason to feel satisfied. Masters and men are now on excellent terms and work is proceeding everywhere quietly. The reception of the workmen by the emperor has created the best impression. As to insinuations that the workmen who were received by the emperor were not representative you may say their selection was not influenced in any way by the government. The selection of the men had to be made within a day. I summoned the principal manufacturers and asked them to choose their most trustworthy and influential men and this was done."

SOSNOVICE, Feb. 3.—About 40,000 men are out on strike. At a meeting of strikers today the men forcibly dragged officers belonging to the management of various concerns to the place of meeting. All the speakers insisted on the preservation of public order. The men's demands include a minimum wage of 75 cents a day, eight hours to constitute a day's work, various reforms in factory management and old age pensions. After the meeting 12,000 strikers marched six miles to the Dombrova quarter in perfect order, but everywhere persuaded workmen to strike.

This afternoon strikers went to the railway station of Streshenicesids, seized and bound the officers, wrecked the station buildings and stopped trains in both directions.

DEPUTIES SAFE UPON ARRIVAL

DEPUTATION OF REPRESENTATIVE WORKMEN RECEIVED BY CZAR OF RUSSIA AND QUESTIONED AS TO THEIR WORK.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A news agency dispatch from St. Petersburg says Emperor Nicholas received today at Tsarskoe-Selo, a deputation of five workmen from the various printing works. He questioned each man closely regarding the character of work and hours of employment, expressed satisfaction with those who had conscientiously performed their duty and said he hoped to visit the establishment in person.

The audience occurred in the great hall. The emperor was accompanied by Minister of Finance Kokovsoff and Prince Selitzine, manager of the printing works. When the emperor expressed a desire to visit the printing establishment, the minister of finance said the establishment was well worthy this mark of imperial favor.

In dismissing the delegation he asked them to convey the thanks in his name to their comrades who had done good work in the service of the state. He expressed satisfaction with the bearing of the delegates.

At the conclusion of the interview, permission was given the delegates to visit the palace building and afterward they were entertained at dinner.

C. A. Hibbard left yesterday for New York city, where he will purchase a spring stock of goods for his local store.

BANK CELEBRATES 12TH ANNIVERSARY

FIRST NATIONAL OF CRIPPLE CREEK RECEIVES THE CONGRATULATIONS OF ITS MANY FRIENDS ON THE EVENT.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Today was the twelfth anniversary of the First National bank of this city, and it is an attainment in the record of that institution, which both its officers and the citizens of the district may well regard with pride.

The First National bank, of which A. E. Carlton is president, has always been foremost in lending assistance and encouragement to every meritorious enterprise in the district, and its thousands of friends in the district joined today in wishing it many more years of prosperity and influence.

The bank's standing is best indicated by their last report, dated January 11, which was as follows:

WOMAN MAY RECOVER.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—May Goodrich, who shot herself a few nights ago in a rooming house on South Second street with suicidal intent, is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances. She is still confined to the Sisters hospital and the doctors now state that there is a fair chance of her recovery.

DEATH FROM APPENDICITIS.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Ruth Philbrick, aged 8 years, daughter of William Philbrick, died this morning at the home of her parents, appendicitis being the cause of the death. Funeral arrangements will be made when the father arrives from Arizona where he has been mining.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED AT VICTOR.

Special to the Gazette.

VICTOR, Feb. 3.—A meeting of business and mining men is called for 8 o'clock tomorrow evening for the purpose of organizing a social organization to be known as the Business Men's club. The rooms which the club expects to occupy after organization have been refitted and are located on one of the most prominent corners of the city.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

Special to the Gazette.

VICTOR, Feb. 3.—Funeral services over the remains of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Peters will take place at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning interment being made at Sunnyside cemetery.

SNOWSLIDES DELAYING TRAFFIC ABOUT OURAY

Special to the Gazette.

OURAY, Feb. 3.—Several snowslides are reported around here but no damage has been done. The large slide on the Sneffles road leading to the Camp Bird mine ran yesterday and delayed several teams which were at the mine. They had to plow their way back through the snow.

FIRE IN COURT HOUSE AT BRIGHTON, COLORADO

Special to the Gazette.

BRIGHTON, Feb. 3.—Fire was discovered last Wednesday evening in the court house in this city, which was extinguished, however, before any damage had been done.

Again at 3 o'clock this morning, fire was discovered by the janitor who sleeps in the building. The loss on the furniture will approximate $500, and that on the building $400. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

REPUBLICANS FAVOR RATE MAKING BILL

Conference Accepts as a Party Measure Act to Extend Powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

NO AMENDMENTS ARE ALLOWED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Republican conference today adopted as a party measure the bill extending rate making power to the interstate commerce commission, recently passed by the house of representatives, and known as the Esch-Townsend bill.

The conference instructed the house committee on rules to bring in a rule providing for consideration of the measure beginning on Tuesday and continuing until 4 o'clock Wednesday, when a vote shall be taken.

No amendments will be allowed to the bill.

Some Opposition.

The conference developed opposition to the measure. The only test vote was a motion to postpone the matter for a further conference next Tuesday. This was lost 44 to 90. Efforts were made to amend the bill during the conference but all of these failed. Fault was found on the ground that it did not include regulation for the private car evil and terminal charges.

The change of the meeting from a caucus, as the call stated, to a "conference" leaves members participating free to follow their own inclinations. It is understood that the opposition may organize with the purpose of joining the minority in the house in the vote on the rule prescribing the manner of considering the bill in the house. These plans, however, have not been actually and definitely decided on.

Strong Favorable Sentiment.

Speaker Cannon advised his associates that if action was to be taken at all it must be taken now. He suggested that a recess might be taken until evening, but the sentiment of the members present was so overwhelmingly in favor of immediate action that the speaker did not press his suggestion.

Mr. Payne said that the bill in its present shape did not provide for anything more than what was in the original interstate commerce act which had stood for ten years, at the end of which time the railroad raised the question of the legality of the enforcement of the decisions of the committee as to rates, the courts sustaining the contention that there was no power vested in the commission to fix rates.

JUDGE SWAYNE'S ANSWER

Reading of the Document Before the Senate Sitting as an Impeachment Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Through his counsel Judge Swayne today made formal response in the senate to the articles of impeachment voted by the house of representatives. The answer was a formidable document in point of size. Each of the twelve articles of impeachment was answered at length. In every case the acts charged were admitted, but explained from Judge Swayne's point of view, and in addition it was contended that even if the conditions were true as charged, they were not of a character to justify proceedings for impeachment.

After the answer was read the senate issued an order requiring the house to file its formal reply by next Monday, and directed that all pleadings shall be in by February 8 so that the trial may proceed on February 10.

Galleries Well Filled.

The proceedings attracted a large audience to the galleries and most of the senators were in their seats. After the trial was suspended Senators Berry, Stone and Morgan spoke in opposition to the joint statehood bill in its present form.

At 12:30 the senate resolved itself into an impeachment court for the continuation of the trial of Judge Swayne.

The order for the day included only the answer of Judge Swayne to the accusations of the house and this was presented by former Senators Higgins and Thurston on behalf of the respondent, who failed to appear in person.

Mr. Thurston read Judge Swayne's answer. He took up the specifications of the charges in detail, contending that they were not such as should be taken cognizance of by the senate.

Taking up the first charge of receiving $10 a day for expenses, he said the allowance was intended to be a fixed and definite allowance for judges when holding court outside their districts. Judge Swayne said that other judges generally have drawn the full amount of $10 a day and upon the beginning of the present proceeding he had not received any intimation from the auditing officers of the treasury department or from others that his course in accepting the full amount allowed was contrary either to law or to custom.

The charge that Judge Swayne had appropriated to his own use a railway car was denied. He admitted the use of the car, but said that it was occupied by himself and friends in going from Delaware to Florida on the invitation of the receiver of the road. He also denied that he failed to establish a residence in his district in Florida. He admitted frequent absences on account of visits to his family, the holding of court elsewhere, and because of a tour in Europe; but contended that there had been no offense in this respect of a character to justify impeachment for high crimes and misdemeanors.

The charge of committing E. T. Davis to jail for contempt, he admitted, but justified it as a public duty.

Judge Swayne also justified his course in punishing W. C. O'Neal, saying that his course in this case had been due to the fact that O'Neal had made a murderous assault on a trustee in bankruptcy appointed by Judge Swayne.

An order was adopted giving the managers of the house until February 6 to present a replication or other pleading, which the house may desire to make.

Joint Statehood.

The senate, sitting as a court then adjourned and resumed legislative consideration of the joint statehood bill. Mr. Stone spoke in opposition to the measure. Mr. Berry followed Mr. Stone, saying it was not true that all the people wanted Oklahoma and Indian Territory united as one state. He insisted that the Indian people in Indian Territory were unanimous in their desire for single statehood. He thought New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma should be admitted as states at this time and that for the present Indian Teritory should remain a territory.

Mr. Morgan said that each of the territories should be admitted as a state and that to fail to so admit them would be an act of bad faith.

Mr. Teller sought consent to have printed in the record an article printed today in a New York paper purporting to give the text of the agreement between the United States and Santo Domingo, but desisted when assured by Mr. Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations that the publication was not correct. Mr. Cullom added that the agreement was not in process of execution and objected to publication.

The senate then went into executive session, and adjourned.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY OF POSTAL EMPLOYES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—After nearly a week of discussion the postoffice appropriation bill, carrying $180,787,415, passed the house today, following the defeat of a motion by Mr. Moon to recommit with instructions to strike out provisions for special facilities on trunk lines.

The question of political activity by postal employes and the course to be adopted to prevent it was raised by Mr. Griggs (Ga.), who offered an amendment providing that the uniting by postal employes "with any association or organization which has for its object the change of the relation of employes to the government shall be cause for dismissal." The amendment went out on a point of order.

Mr. Moon (Tenn.) moved to recommit the bill with instructions to eliminate the provisions for special mail facilities.

The motion to recommit was lost and the bill then was passed without division.

The house adjourned until tomorrow.

DIVORCE SUIT.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Dan Sage commenced suit in the county court against Ellsworth Sage for divorce, alleging abuse and general cruelty in her complaint.

WILL BE LITERARY FEAST

Readers of the Sunday edition of the Colorado Springs Gazette and Telegraph have a treat in store for them tomorrow in the form of carefully prepared and profusely-illustrated special articles written by prominent Colorado Springs people.

First of all, Herman Bernard Spencer contributes a splendid feature on the Czar of all the Russias, showing that Nicholas II is a greater slave than any of the serfs liberated by his grandfather, and that his inevitable fate will be death either by poisoning or at the hands of Nihilists. The article is timely.

Prof. J. H. Kerr has an extremely interesting story on "Reminiscences and the Panama Isthmus." He spent seven years on the ground and his information is therefore first hand.

Reminiscences of pioneer days in the Pike's Peak region is the subject of an unusually taking article by Mr. E. F. Wright, of this city, and William C. Sturgis, Ph. D., of Colorado college, has a story of great interest, bearing on the flora of this region. He discusses "Some Neglected Plants of Our Mountains and Forests." He also writes of "Harvard College Salaries Now and in the Past."

Among the other entertaining features which will appear in tomorrow's issue will be "The Heavens in February," with maps and charts, and a strange story of how a British mayor just missed owning most of Chicago.

ESCAPE AFTER THE TERRIBLE ORDEAL

Losses at Heikoutai Were Nearly 20,000—One Regiment Practically Annihilated—Oyama's Report of the Three Days' Fight.

ST PETERSBURG, Feb 3—The Emperor has received the following dispatch from General Kuropatkin

The Japanese during the night of January 31 attacked Djantuchenan on the left bank of the Hun river opposite Chan Gian They captured the village, but subsequently were driven out with great loss The Russian casualties were one hundred

The Japanese, after a severe cannonade reattacked our forces at Djantuchenan at noon February 1 The Russians at first retired but ultimately reoccupied the village, although some outlying parts are still in the hands of the enemy

The commander-in-chief adds, "Despite the intense cold, frostbites are rare owing to preventive measures

TOKIO Feb 2—9 p m—Field Marshal Oyama telegraphing yesterday, reports that the extreme Japanese left holds a line along the Hun river with its extreme left established on the right bank The main body of the Russians after their defeat at Heikoutai retired across the Hun river and occupied Siuyupao, Shugangtai and a portion of Changtan on Wednesday the Russians began constructing defensive works in the neighborhood of Shugangtai Chungchiawopeng and Changtan Russian cavalry patrols were seen Wednesday along the line of Tzuyuto Pinpaotzi and Yuhoatazu The Russians made a series of small attacks on the right army and the left flank of the left army, but were repulsed in each instance

Details of the fighting from January 25 to January 29, which Field Marshal Oyama officially designates as the battle of Heikoutai show that the operations were more extensive the forces engaged larger, and the fighting more desperate than the first reports indicated The Japanese casualties totaled 7,000 According to the Japanese estimate the Russians lost over 10,000 The armies fought in a driving snow storm It was bitterly cold and very difficult to see A night attack delivered in the early morning, brought success to the Japanese

Attacked Heikoutai.

A Russian division surrounded and attacked Heikoutai January 25 Field Marshal Oyama reports that the garrison, though outnumbered, made a stubborn resistance and retired under cover of darkness to Kuchengtzu

In the meantime Field Marshal Oyama warned of the attack ordered an advance for the purpose of retaking Heikoutai It was snowing and the movements of the troops were delayed January 26 about noon while the attack on Heikoutai was developing a report reached the Japanese headquarters that another division of Russians advancing from Changtan had surrounded Chenchiehpao and also that an independent and smaller body of Russians was operating west of Chenchiehpao, threatening the left flank of the Japanese force moving against Heikoutai which had deployed from Sumapao westward of Heikoutai It was originally planned to deploy from Sumapao to Taopao but it was found that the Russians possessed a line from Heikoutai to Taopao The Japanese therefore deployed to Humapao and Wuchiatzu and attacked Heikoutai and Taopao The latter place was strongly held but its capture was necessary before it was possible to take Heikoutai Thirty Russian guns skillfully placed around Heikoutai enfiladed the troops after they had reached the nightfall of January 26 saw the Japanese still struggling to dislodge the Russians

On January 27 the Russians who were pressing the Japanese right wing temporarily retreated The forced to reinforced the Japanese center The attack on Heikoutai was resumed January 28 A covering force was sent to protect the right flank and rear and also the left flank of the Japanese force operating against Heikoutai Another covering force protected the extreme left

Were Fearless

The troops attacking Heikoutai advanced fearlessly and despite the heavy losses inflicted by the repeated Russians constantly gained step by step A Russian division advanced from the direction of Niuchu and struck the left column on the right flank A force of Russian infantry and mounted artillery fell into the rear of the left column The Japanese lost heavily and the extreme left wing was compelled to retreat temporarily

The Russians made a series of night attacks January 27 in all directions They succeeded in catching a detachment stationed at Sumapao in the front and rear A desperate hand-to-hand fight ensued The Japanese finally succeeded in repulsing all the attacks

A portion of the Russians remained concealed at Sumapao and on the morning of January 29 fired into the rear of the Japanese center The Japanese turned attacked and practically annihilated the Russians only two hundred of them surrendering The fight continued throughout the day and night of January 28 The Japanese who were everywhere outnumbered decided to make a general night attack In his report Field Marshal Oyama says

Our object had not been attained so I encouraged all columns to make night attacks The enemy unable to withstand our vigorous attacks began to retreat at 5 30 in the morning Our forces charging into Heikoutai occupied the place entirely at 9 30 o'clock in the morning

The Russian force engaged is estimated by the Japanese at seven divisions with a division of cavalry Prisoners report that the Russian Fourth infantry regiment was practically annihilated

JAPS SAY WOUNDED WERE MUTILATED

TOKIO Feb 2—Manchurian headquarters telegraphing yesterday (Feb 2) says that on that day the Russians resumed their activity in front of the Japanese left and that there has been constant skirmishing along the fronts of both the opposing forces with a loss of heavy

The Japanese again charge the Russians with the mutilation of their wounded Portions of the report follow

On Wednesday (February 1) the enemy attacked us in all directions on our outposts repulsed them

On Thursday (February 2) from 4 o'clock in the morning the enemy on the west front of Tamaupu and from Hunpaoshi Ridge and Sawo and their vicinities The enemy's infantry immediately surrounded Tangshi but were repulsed

In the direction of Chengchiatun Thursday the enemy's artillery situated about a mile and a quarter north of the village of Shakhsand on Wapu mountain bombarded the southern heights of Shakhsand village

Constant skirmishes between scouts took place to the north of Chenghinatzu and Yaotai

In the direction of the left on Thursday morning the enemy's artillery fired bombarded Cheng hienhpao Our artillery responded

According to a reliable report the enemy has built a railroad from Su hsiatun which is five miles north of Liaoyang to Sumapao and has opened traffic thereon

At 5 o'clock on Thursday morning the enemy's field artillery opened fire concentrated a fire against Yaizaopao (two miles to the east of Chenchiehpao)

Subsequently a Russian division entered the southern village of Changtan and despatched a brigade to attack us We repulsed the brigade

GRIPPENBERG RECALLED

LONDON Feb 3—A dispatch from St Petersburg to a news agency says it is stated that Lieutenant General Grippenberg, commander of the second Manchurian army, has handed over his command to Lieutenant General Mylloff because of ill-health

ST PETERSBURG, Feb 3—It is rumored that Lieut General Grippenberg has asked to be relieved of his command The Associated Press is unable to obtain a confirmation or denial at the war office According to the version prevalent in military circles General Grippenberg telegraphed direct to the emperor requesting to be relieved because of the alleged failure of General Kuropatkin to afford him proper support in the operations against Kandepao

PRIVATE CARRIERS

Witness Says They Are Responsible for Success of Trusts.

WASHINGTON Feb 3—E H Ferguson, of Duluth, Minn, representing the Retail and Shoppers association continued his statement before the senate committee on interstate commerce today He made especial complaint of the secret routing agreements of the railroad companies operating in the fruit centers of the west

This arrangement enabled the railroads to select lines without consulting the shippers and Mr Ferguson said that loss and inconvenience often resulted to perishable goods

He charged discrimination by the railroads in the interest of the Armour Private Refrigerating Carline company, saying that the charges of that company were often double those of railroad lines themselves

This he said was due to the exclusive contracts which the Armour company had been able to procure, and he asserted that the organization and success of the beef trust were traceable to these contracts In reply to questions Mr Ferguson expressed the opinion that the railroad officials were interested in the private car companies but that the railroad companies themselves secured no benefits from the arrangement with the companies

HOCH IS CONFIDENT

Says Talk of Having 20 or 30 Wives Is All Nonsense.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Johann Hoch was arraigned in Jefferson Market court today and remanded until Saturday when requisition papers are expected from Chicago.

"This talk about my having 20 or 30 wives and murdering a few of them is all nonsense," the aged man, who looks taken back to police headquarters, "what for them go on and die if they like as much as they please. I will make some of them very sorry when I get back to Chicago." He was in good of mistaken identity. There are more Hochs in the west than

According to the police Hoch said he would plead guilty to bigamy upon his return to Chicago. He said he had married twice, the police allege, but that when he took a second wife he believed his former wife had secured a divorce from him.

Concerning "Dr." Engler of murder Hoch said:

"They are dressing me up crimes that are said to have occurred in this country. I believe I came here ten years ago. I will prove by documentary evidence that I was in Germany when the time these crimes were committed."

John Graf, of Hessingen, Hingen-on-the-Rhine, where Hoch was born, was a caller at police headquarters today. He told the detectives he was certain he had known Hoch in Geislingen, where he passed as Jacob Schmidt, until he left there about ten years ago and came to this country as a diamond agent, having lost a fortune.

Graf declares that if Hoch is the same as Jacob Schmidt he was married in Germany.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Pasadena police have confirmed the marriage of Johann Hoch to Martha Hofstetter in Chicago. Word was received by the police here today from the chief of police at Pasadena that the woman had recognized the picture of Hoch as the man who under the name of Jacob Erdorf Hoch, married her in Chicago.

BURGLARS GIVE BACK DEAD MOTHER'S RING

Little Girl's Grief Over Loss of Memento Touches Rough Hearts.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—A little girl's grief over the loss of a ring worn by her dying mother gave her last Saturday the hearts of three Chicago burglars. The ring came back through the mails today, barely twenty-four hours after it had been torn from the finger of the 9 year old Vera Fowler, granddaughter of Eugene Field, in the millionaire home in whose mansion the burglary took place.

"We have mothers, too," was the explanation for the return of the ring, which was but a small part of the burglars' booty, most of the rest of which was returned. The letter, inclosing the ring was addressed to Miss Vera Fowler, and the unknown note within read as follows:

"We are not professional burglars. We have mothers, too. Inclosed is the little ring which you said was a gift from your dead mother. Best regards."

In the Way to the Races

Every seat in our compartment was occupied.

A man of middle age, rather overdressed, sat spread out in one corner opposite a clean-shaven young man in outer darkness assiduously studied a newspaper. Beside the latter and alongside the door a [illegible] sported a copy of the Standard. The two remaining occupants, well-groomed, very young, with [illegible] glasses slung about them, [illegible] remarks about sport.

"Can you oblige me with a light, [illegible]" asked the young man, [illegible]

"The cigars should be in fairly good condition," he continued handing a box to the parson. "Not going to the races? Ah, parson, me, eh, but the clergymen sometimes do, of course," and he smiled knowingly [illegible]

"Do any of your gentlemen play cards?" he inquired suddenly after a pause spent in gazing out of the window and puffing his big cigar.

The well-groomed young men exchanged a significant glance.

"Not much," one of them chuckled in a [illegible]

"Oh then you do play a little," the [illegible] quickly. "Come now, [illegible] game of German poker or bridge will do us all good. You will join us, parson?"

The clean-shaven man to whom the first question was addressed, slowly [illegible] his pica card.

"If the stakes are merely nominal, [illegible] half-penny points, anything just to give the thing an interest. We only want to kill time."

But the well-groomed young men were obdurate. They said they wouldn't play. They looked quite annoyed at being asked. When the parson was appealed to he looked rather disconcerted.

"Well, I'm a [illegible] sir."

He said he would be delighted to, but he didn't understand cards.

"There's a trick I've seen a cardsharp do," he ventured, as of a half-sovereign, the smart man continued [illegible] instinctively shuffling the cards he had produced while speaking. "A trick maybe some of you have seen done. I thought I'd practice it for a bit of fun, and really I think I've come to it rather well, for an amateur, of course. I sometimes practice it before a looking glass and try to cheat myself. Don't you think that an original idea?"

The clean-shaven man thought it quite right.

"Ah, you are an American?"

The clean-shaven man said, "That's so."

"I've been only once in the States myself. My word, yours is a great country, sir, a great nation. I say, until an Englishman's been in Chicago, he don't know what 'hustle' is."

The clean-shaven man looked gratified.

"Strasburg's my birthplace," he said. "And a very fine birthplace too. None better, I should say. Now, as I expect you are—how do you put it, 'arnation smart? that's right, eh?"—he smiled with great good humor—"I should like just to see if you can best me in this trick. I flatter myself I've almost, if not quite, mastered it."

He spread a folded newspaper across his knees.

"You see," he said, "I take three cards—so. Two are plain cards—look, the five of spades and the ten of diamonds. The third is a picture card—there you see it, the queen of hearts. I hold the three cards in my fingers—so. I give them a flourish and a little jerk—so, and there they are spread out before you on the newspaper, face downward. Now all you have to do is to guess which is the picture card. Which of these three should you say was the picture card?"

One of the well groomed young men nudged his companion. The other gave a knowing wink. "They knew a bit."

"Why, that is the picture card," the [illegible] confident.

"Positive?"

"Why, you can't be [illegible] your opinion on it, say a half-crown it's the picture card?"

The clean-shaven man hesitated an instant. Then seeing that the eyes of all were upon him he answered with assumed bravado. "Why, certainly, I bet you half-a-crown the middle one's the court card."

"Pick it up for yourself and see."

He did so. It was the queen of hearts.

"There, didn't I tell you?" he exclaimed, holding up the card so that all might see.

The smart man smiled pleasantly and handed over his half-crown.

"I'll try again," he said. "I'd forgotten you were from Chicago." He repeated the performance, and again the three cards lay in a row face downward on the folded newspaper spread across his knees.

"Now, which is the picture card?"

"That one."

"What'll you bet?"

"I'll bet a level half-sovereign it is."

"Done. Turn it up."

The clean-shaven man turned it up and won again. The smart man gave a low whistle.

"Seems I'm not quite the trump I thought I was," he said modestly with a rather forced smile.

"Seems not," the other answered, elated at his success.

"I'll play you once more, anyhow," the smart man exclaimed recklessly.

Again the cards were spread.

"I should say it was that one."

It was the parson who spoke this time, and he spoke with some diffidence. He had folded up his "Standard" and was evidently growing interested in the proceedings. Now he glanced with a look of halting inquiry at his fortunate left-hand neighbor. The latter looked him full in the face and nodded.

"What'll you bet, gentlemen?" said the smart man.

"I'll go a sovereign this time," exclaimed the clean-shaven man.

"And you, sir?"

The nervous clergyman looked round again at his fellow passengers shyly, almost awkwardly, in mute appeal for either help or guidance. Clearly he knew he was succumbing to temptation.

"And if that is the court card," he said with some trepidation, "what do you give me?"

"If it isn't the lady what will you give me, sir?"

"If it isn't the picture card I will agree to give you five shillings on the understanding that if you are in the wrong you will give me a like amount."

"That's quite right, sir, and I agree to it. Now please turn up the card for yourself, sir."

With trembling hand the clergyman turned it up. It was the court card! The smart man said nothing but looked rather glum. He produced a sovereign and two half-crowns and paid his losses.

"I thought, too, that was the court card," one of the well-groomed youths ventured to his companion.

"[illegible] replied with [illegible] look these words of [illegible] will DO for [illegible]

"Not [illegible] are they?" in a [illegible]

"No [illegible]

"Ought to get before his [illegible] [illegible]" in an audible undertone.

The smart [illegible] thoroughly disconcerted and [illegible] for [illegible] in change, the [illegible] "[illegible]." The clean-shaven man also heard it, but he gave a few gulps, [illegible] the parson smiled.

"Gentlemen, I'll take you further again," the smart man exclaimed, [illegible] cheerily. "I don't like leaving you or anybody else. Now then, are you ready?"

Another click flourish and the cards lay spread out a fourth time.

"There, there, there it!" the clean-shaven man exclaimed excitedly.

"Yes, that's the one," said the parson.

"That's it for a sovereign—the right-hand card is the queen," cried the well-groomed young man in the corner.

"I'll bet a sovereign too it is!" echoed his companion.

"Now, then, keep quiet, please," exclaimed the smart man, addressing himself more particularly to the two previous winners. "Now you, sir, what do you say? You bet the right-hand card is the picture card?"

The clean-shaven man said he would bet an even two sovereigns.

"And you, my reverend sir?"

"I will agree to pay you half a sovereign if the right-hand card isn't the court card, on the understanding that—"

"Yes, that's all right. And you two young fellows said a sovereign between you. Now then, one of you four gentlemen please pick up [illegible] ch?"

"We said a sovereign each," cried one of the well-groomed youths, nettled at being called a "young fellow." "Let's make it two sovereigns each, Alec."

"Right you are—we bet two pounds each the right-hand card is the court card—the queen of hearts. Now turn it up."

"All put your money on the card you mean, please, before we proceed to turn it up. Then there can be no mistake," said the smart man.

The clean-shaven man put two sovereigns upon it.

The nervous clergyman put down half a sovereign.

The two "young fellows" put two sovereigns apiece on the card.

Then the parson slid all the gold off the card on to the newspaper and with a look of confidence this time turned the card up.

It was the five of spades.

The smart man picked up the gold and slipped it into his pocket. Almost as he did so the train began to slow down.

"Good morning, gentlemen," he said pleasantly, as he alighted.

"Ta-ta, lads," remarked the "parson" with a wicked wink, rising to follow him.

"What price Looking Glasses?" queried the clean-shaven man, jestingly. "But you'll win it back presently in the ring no doubt. So long."—Basil Toner, in London Tatler.

APPLICATIONS

FOR JOBS IN PANAMA FAR EXCEED THE SUPPLY OF PLACES —NO MORE EXAMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—It was announced at the office of the civil service commission today that for the present no more examinations will be held for clerical and professional positions for the Panama canal service, the applications already being far in excess of its needs. It was said, however, that competent and experienced persons are especially desired as members of steamshovel crews particularly crane men and pit foremen.

BELL'S LITERARY GEM.

AS A THING of beauty and a perpetual joy to all lovers of chaste and graceful English, the following extract from the report of Adjutant-General Sherman Bell is respectfully commended to our readers:

As military commander, the authority and dignity of the state of Colorado were at all times upheld and asserted, in seeking to ameliorate a condition of dynamite and assassination, under the guise of labor that was intolerable.

Autocratic in name, political in its grafts and speculative in its incorporated "trusts" not the unionism recognized to associate with working improvement in the condition of the honest working people of the state. Their wives' and families' betterment, but fire eating Socialists and anarchists, fanned by an un-American press, the whole outfit will some day cause the law makers to both suppress and abolish beyond the state line, such action becoming a "citizens" necessity by the law makers, and necessary for the protection and welfare of the individual who labors for wages, whom individually and collectively I have the highest respect and regard for, as well as for their happiness and prosperity.

This specimen of composition is worthy of the careful study of anybody who desires to improve his literary style, for once the student has mastered its intricacies there will be no doubt of his ability to put his thoughts into enduring form with at least equal facility. Note the Bell diction—easy, flowing, graceful—just like buttermilk gurgling out of a jug, as Mary Twain once said of a masterpiece submitted for his approval.

If Joseph Addison, once accounted a master of style, were here on earth and could see that last sentence he would take to the high grass with the same alacrity that the Cripple Creek strikers fled from General Bell's terrifying presence. Only 112 words, and every one of them chosen with the delicate sense of fitness that marks the General's every act, whether in war or peace. What could be more charmful than "seeking to ameliorate a condition of dynamite"? or "speculative in its incorporated trusts"?

The untutored hoi polloi may ask what it all means, but that is only what we must expect of such persons. They lack "savvy"; they don't know how to appreciate a good thing in literature when it is presented to them free of cost. Why should anybody worry over the meaning of General Bell's production? It must be valued for its form and style rather than for any significance the words may convey. Besides, it isn't a particle of use to worry; you won't know any more at the end than you did in the beginning.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

A STATEMENT made public a few days ago by the Interstate Commerce Commission shows that in the months of July, August and September, 1904, 228 passengers and 183 employes were killed in railroad accidents in this country, and 2,104 passengers and 1,583 employes were injured. Other accidents to passengers and employes, not the result of collisions or derailments, bring the total number of casualties up to 14,239, of which 1,032 were killed and 13,207 were injured. The property loss from the total of 2,750 accidents was $2,430,073.

Of these statistics the commission says: "Notwithstanding that the figures show a gratifying decrease in the number of employes killed, the quarter may, as a whole, be termed the most disastrous on record in fatal accidents to passengers." The word disastrous hardly describes it. Such slaughter is horrifying in the extreme. The total number of casualties here recorded is at the rate of about 57,000 a year, of whom more than 4,000 would be numbered among the killed. Fifty-seven thousand is at least 10,000 more than the combined population of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou. It is more than the population of Pueblo. And yet the railroads of this country are killing and maiming approximately that number of people every year.

In his last annual message to Congress President Roosevelt discussed the subject of railroad accidents and recommended the passage of a law requiring the general adoption of the block signal system. He also pointed out the urgent need of legislation in the interest of public safety, limiting the hours of labor for railroad employes in train service. Without question such laws would go a long way toward preventing the awful slaughter and maiming of passengers and employes that is now a feature of the railroad business. Railroading is necessarily a hazardous business, and no amount of legislation or of safety precautions and appliances can ever suffice absolutely to prevent accidents, but there is no reason to believe that the present state of affairs can not be bettered.

THE DOMINICAN CASE.

THE more the proposed deal between the governments of the United States and Santo Domingo is considered the more apparent it becomes that this country is on the eve of a new era in its dealings with the republics of the Caribbean Sea and of Central and South America. In its maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine our Government has come to the parting of the ways, and either path it may choose appears extremely rocky.

The problem may be stated in these terms: Most of the countries concerned are totally irresponsible in their dealings with other governments, and have incurred debts, mostly to the European powers and to the United States, far in excess of their ability or inclination to pay. These debts have accumulated to enormous amounts and some of the debtor nations are virtually bankrupt. Santo Domingo, one of the worst, owes $32,000,000.

The collection of these obligations by moral force is impossible, and so long as the United States maintains its present attitude on the Monroe Doctrine the creditor powers can do nothing but threaten. The threats of naval demonstrations and of seizures of customs houses are treated lightly by the Latin republics, for they feel secure in the protection of the Monroe Doctrine. The Powers have several times suggested to the American Government that, to be consistent, it should compel its wards to practice decency and honesty in international intercourse. If this were done it would remove their objection to the Monroe Doctrine and put an end to the constant danger of European interference in Central and South American affairs. If it is not done the time is not far distant when the creditor nations of Europe will form a coalition for the purpose of collecting their claims, even if they have to collide with the Monroe Doctrine to do it. At least this is the opinion of far-sighted American statesmen, and it is a perfectly reasonable view. To expect any government to submit tamely to being robbed, simply out of respect for a policy of another government, is preposterous.

This is the view held by the President and Secretary Hay, and it is the basis of their plan for the reorganization by this Government of Dominican finances. Affairs in the island republic are in such a hopeless state that President Morales has appealed for help, and the plan suggested seems the most feasible. But it is not in the work of straightening the Dominican tangle that the danger lies, but in the precedent. If we enter upon such a policy in this case it must necessarily be extended to cover like cases in other countries. Today it is Santo Domingo; tomorrow it may be Venezuela and the next day Colombia or Honduras. If it means anything it means the virtual establishment of American suzerainty over all of the countries of the Caribbean and of Central and South America—a task not to be lightly approached.

The horns of the dilemma are both sharp; we can not abandon the traditional doctrine, and we can not risk a combined European attack on it. The only alternative is to accept the new burden, and this is what the President will do, Congress permitting.

Congress is now inquiring into the condition of the General Slocum's life preservers. Perhaps by the time all of the relatives of the Slocum victims have died of old age, Congress will have reached the important conclusion that the life preservers were defective.

Forty seconds per mile for a five-mile spurt is now the auto record at Ormond Beach, Fla. And there are plenty of enthusiastic "sportsmen" who are perfectly willing to risk their lives in attempts to cut it down one-fifth of a second.

No knowledge is lost. The experience gained by Theodore Roosevelt as Assistant Secretary of the Navy stands the President in good stead in his efforts to advance the interests of the Navy now.

Senator Teller is again accusing the President of usurpation. If the country at large knew Teller as well as Colorado knows him less attention would be paid to his silly babbling.

Once more it is announced that the Czar will grant reforms. The hardest worked man in the Russian empire is the fellow whose duty it is to make this daily announcement.

Only forty-three degrees below zero in Montana! Strange that Montana doesn't advertise its superior advantages as a winter resort.

There is some consolation in knowing that it is a good deal colder everywhere else than it is here.

DESPISED OF ALL MEN.

The Lake City Times intimates that a vigilance committee is in course of formation over there for the hanging of back-nippers. The worst a back-capper is given us too good for him. They are a class who do nothing themselves for the progress and prosperity of a community and if possible will not let others do anything.—Telluride Journal.

WRONGS WILL BE RIGHTED.

The despicable deal of the Democratic party made several years ago in the districting of the state will be mended this winter. Not satisfied when they had things all their own way the Democracy tried to make it unanimous and by throwing outside counties in with Denver made them all hopelessly Democratic. In the new bill Mesa and Delta counties are placed together.—Grand Junction News.

A CLEVER INVENTION.

W. H. Kilgore is the inventor of a patent hitching device which will do away with the weight. The invention has been used by him since January 1 and has proven successful.

The device is very simple. One end of a strap is attached to the horse's bit and the other end to a roller on the axle of the wagon. By the movement of the wheel the strap is tightened, thus drawing on the bit. The contrivance is in action only when one raises up off the seat, and is very accurate and up-to-date.—Salida Mail.

COLD WATER FOR GUNNISON'S HOPES.

The Montrose Press is of the opinion that because Gunnison has a site for a normal school and some trees planted that she has the best and only claim to the normal school for the Western Slope. Just why that argument would hold under the circumstances we fail to perceive. Brother Adams will probably tell us why he allowed a paper plant that he had conducted for years to die absolutely in Gunnison and he has left a home and business house and has gone to live in a growing city? Is a dead town the place for a normal? The normal was first agitated for Gunnison twenty years ago, and such a school ought to go somewhere near where a majority of the pupils will be found. No mere sentiment should dictate the location of such an institution and a good way would be to appoint a commission to locate such a school where the conditions were most favorable.—Grand Junction News.

THE FAULT OF THE CAR.

THERE WAS NO NEED FOR TALKING.

"Does the baby talk yet?" asked a friend of the family.

"No," replied the baby's disgusted little brother, "the baby doesn't need to talk."

"Doesn't need to talk?"

"No. All the baby has to do is to yell, and it gets everything there is in the house that's worth having."

SAFE SASS.

Jenkins—I gave it to that man straight. I can tell you sir. He is twice as big as I am, too, but I told him exactly what I thought of him and of his condition right to his face.

Jenkins—No sir, he didn't. And when he tried to answer back I just hung up the telephone receiver and walked away.—London Tit-Bits.

A LOVER'S SAD EXPERIENCE.

The schooner Margaret had been cruising up the coast of Labrador, selling salt to the fishing settlements, and had finally put in at a far northern native village, says the Youth's Companion. Many of the people hastened to go on board, so encased and "bundled up" in furs that the sailors could hardly tell one from another. One of the number, a young man, sat about with such a depressed air that the sailors began to speculate on the cause.

They all agreed that he was the most disconsolate looking individual they had ever seen; for days they wondered what the matter was. Each one of them guessed, but all guessed wrong. They found out the sad story from a trader who visited them—a man who could speak the native dialect.

"Billy," said the captain to this trader, "there's a fellow sitting over there in the lee of the rail who is the sorrowfullest-looking human being I've ever seen. We all want to know what's the matter with him. Find out, will you?"

The trader was obliging, and for half an hour he was jabbering back and forth with the native; and occasionally Bill smiled, and once or twice he laughed. At last he came back to us.

"It's quite a story," he said. "This young man was in love with a girl, but her father was set against the marriage. In that situation it is a common practice round here to steal the girl. Most all marriages here mean a seizure and abduction of the bride, and so this young man prepared to run off with his sweetheart, no matter whether her family was willing or not.

"He got an outfit of dogs and sleds which cost him a good deal of money, and one night he went to her hut and crept in. He didn't want her to cry out, so he stuffed something in her mouth and tied her up with ropes until she and her furs looked like a bag of meal. Then he tied her on to the sleds and, rejoicing at his success, drove all night to get away from her father.

"When daylight came he stopped, untied the ropes and pulled the fur hood back from her face. And then came the sad part of the story. It wasn't the girl at all that he had stolen—it was the old man!"

A Severe Cold for Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00. The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.

Japan is the leading fishing nation today, although the value of her sea products is surpassed by that of two other countries. The United States, outside of Alaska, and Great Britain each produce about $45,000,000 worth annually, and Japan produces about $30,000,000 worth. Japan leads in the proportion of the total population engaged in the fishing industry, in the actual number of people living by the industry, in the relative importance of fish products in the country's domestic economy, and in the support given by the government to the industry.

TIRATING FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered, as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safe to take in any form by children and delicate persons. Sold by The Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

DR. SOMMANSTINE'S SECOND TRIAL ENDS

Jury Returned Verdict at 9:10 o'Clock Last Evening After Being Out Only 25 Minutes---Spends Night in County Jail.

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged in the information."

Thus read Clerk Clyde Starrett, as he faced the jury in the criminal division of the district court last evening.

"Is this your verdict, Mr. Foreman?" he questioned.

"It is," replied the foreman.

"So say you all?" again queried the clerk.

"We do," responded the members of the jury.

During the reading of the verdict and the subsequent questioning, the defendant, E. E. Sommanstine, sat bolt upright in his chair and glared at the jurors, as his face turned almost pale. It required only 25 minutes for the jury to reach a verdict. The jurors left the court room at 8:45 p. m. and adjourned immediately took an informal ballot. The informal ballot stood ten for conviction and two for acquittal, one of the jurors issuing a ballot for acquittal merely to get the matter before the house, as he explained. A formal ballot was then taken and it was found that every one of the twelve votes was for conviction, and the bailiff was instructed to report to the court. It was just 9:10 p. m. when the bailiff reported that an agreement had been reached.

The crime with which E. E. Sommanstine was charged and of which he was convicted was a statutory crime the victim being Jeannette Bissell, under the age of 18 years. The penalty is from one to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Immediately upon the announcement of the verdict, counsel for the defendant noted exceptions to the verdict and the prisoner was remanded to the custody of the sheriff and taken to the county jail.

Upon the reconvening of court at 7 o'clock last evening every seat in the vast auditorium was filled and nearly all of the chairs within the railing were occupied as Assistant District Attorney John W. Shafer arose and addressed the court in the closing argument.

The latter reviewed the testimony of the complaining witness relating to the jury as much as man. He urged the jurors to look into the faces of defendant Bissell and the defendant, E. E. Sommanstine, the former believing in a Supreme Being while the latter was an agnostic, who did not believe, he perjured his soul even if he did lie upon the witness stand. Mr. Shafer denied the insinuations of the opposing counsel and pointed out that as a matter of fact the girl was brought to this city in the custody of the under sheriff, Geo. F. Dayton, and at the expense of the people.

He then discussed the testimony of the various witnesses and pointed out the general character of all of the witnesses for the defense. He asserted that all of the communications upon which counsel for the defense laid such great stress, as having been written and signed by the girl, were written after the prosecution had been instituted, and that all of the various conversations testified to by the witnesses for the defense occurred after the action was filed. There was no reason for the girl fixing up a story, as alleged by the defense, and counsel believed the girl told a true story throughout.

Trial of the case of the People vs. Sommanstine was resumed in the criminal division of the district court yesterday before Judge R. E. Lewis and a jury. Among the witnesses for the defense were W. A. Rawson, Grace Wilson, H. L. Todd and the defendant himself. Two or three witnesses in rebuttal were then introduced by the prosecution, and the case closed.

Judge Lewis then read his instructions to the jury, after which Attorney Henry Trowbridge made the opening argument for the prosecution. In addressing the jury counsel stated that he had been retained to assist the prosecution at the expense of the county and a few prominent citizens, he having been the former district attorney and acquainted with the preliminary hearing in the case. Mr. Trowbridge laid considerable stress upon the age of the complaining witness, and referred to the testimony of the aunt, who was present at her birth, and to the certificate of baptism, proving that she is under the age of eighteen years. [illegible] given by the show people who had been subpoenaed as witnesses for the defense, and pointed to the fact that if the girl, Jeannette Bissell, is under the age of eighteen years, as shown by the witnesses for the state, it made no matter what her character had been: the defendant was guilty as charged in the complaint.

Mr. Trowbridge laid great stress upon the testimony of the expert medical witnesses as to the condition of the girl at this time, thus proving that the treatment complained of occurred in the latter part of last June or early in July, at which time the testimony proved the girl had been with the defendant only. Mr. Trowbridge urged that the testimony of Mallory, with whom the girl had traveled after the time she had become enceinte, did not enter into the matter. He dwelt upon the charges made by the defense that the girl had been forced into the suit by her aunt in an effort to secure money and asserted that there was no testimony to support such a charge. He urged that it was but natural that a girl in the condition of the prosecuting witness should desire to get away from the country where she is well known and hide her disgrace.

Attorney George Gardner, chief counsel for the defense, then took the floor to address the jury. He explained that the burden of proof rested with the prosecution, and held that counsel upon the other side had in no way proved the charges made against his client. He referred to the contradictory statements made by the prosecuting witness upon the stand and urged the jury to disregard her entire testimony. He quoted from the testimony of the girl to the effect that she did not travel as the wife of Mallory and dwell on the letter wherein the girl signed herself as Mrs. Mallory. He elaborated upon the "innocence" of the defendant and asserted that the claims made by the girl were preposterous.

The most interesting witnesses upon the stand for the defense at the forenoon session were H. L. Todd and the defendant himself. The former, in apparent frankness, told how he had first believed the statements of Jeannette Bissell as against the defendant until he discovered that she had told so many falsehoods that he was forced to believe her entire story, and especially after learning the contents of a letter alleged to have been written by the girl proclaiming the innocence of the defendant.

Sommanstine, the defendant, took the stand in his own behalf and denied most emphatically the testimony given by the girl. He asserted that he had never held any improper relations with the prosecuting witness and had never even placed his arms around her. He admitted having taken her to Prospect lake to teach her to swim, but even then merely held her by her bathing costume.

DEVELOP DEPOSITS OF FIRE CLAY

DENVER COMPANY HAS BEEN FORMED TO EXPLOIT NEW INDUSTRY NEAR TOWN OF CALHAN.

Denver men have organized a company to develop the deposits of fire clay in the Holcom hills, one and one-half miles south of Calhan in El Paso county. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, and will be incorporated within a few days with the following officers: President, W. A. Bittman, of Marion, Ind.; vice president, Theodore Marx, of Denver; secretary, Ethelbert Ward, of Denver; treasurer, A. J. Spengel, of Denver. It will be known as the Colorado Fire Clay company.

The Holcom hills are said to be full of a deposit of clay that is better in quality than any other clay now found, except one in New Jersey. The deposit is easy of access and can be opened at small expense. It is planned to build a spur track from the Rock Island railroad and commence operations at once.

SEARCH FOR MISSING GIRLS

School Boys Will Organize Parties Today to Scour Mountains and Ravines---Efforts of Police Were Fruitless Yesterday.

Manitou's city police department was called on Saturday for Michael, Ryan, the "Herald-Mountain" yesterday, but late night Marshall Alfred Plant reported that no trace had been found of the missing girls, who are mysteriously [illegible] and more a week ago.

Today, being Saturday and a holiday in the schools, numerous parties of boys have signified their intention of spending the day in the mountains in search. There are a number of about [illegible] and there will be immediately organized. [illegible] the girls, and the general belief is that they are [illegible] the high [illegible] the world. Strong, he has been found by the citizens [illegible] and that his body has cost it down in some lonely [illegible].

Several people have reported that they had seen the old man since the time he is supposed to have disappeared, but these are thought to be only rumors.

SAN ATTORNEY OF PRACTICING PROFESSION DRAW LEGAL WILL?

Peculiar Question Involved in Justice Court Decision Will Be Reviewed in County Court on Appeal. Court News.

A case of unusual interest has just been appealed from the court of Justice Ruby to the county court. It involves the right of any citizen to draw up a will without being a practicing attorney. The action is entitled John H. Devlin vs. John McGrouty, the sum involved being $25. The testimony showed that the plaintiff had been a practicing attorney in New York state but had not been admitted to the bar in Colorado. He was employed by John McGrouty, the defendant, to prepare his last will and testament, and did so. When he presented his bill for $25 the payment was refused by the defendant and suit in the justice court was instituted. When the case came to trial before the justice and a jury of three the fight was made upon the ground that the plaintiff was not a practicing attorney, but a reading of the law showed that it was not necessary for the plaintiff to be an attorney in order to prepare a will, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, for $25 and costs of suit.

D. P. Padfield was arraigned before Justice Ruby yesterday upon a charge of securing the sum of $5 from Judge R. L. Hubbard by false pretenses. The case was set for trial on Monday next, bond being fixed at $200, in default of which the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. Padfield was arrested in Pueblo by the police and returned to this city by City Detective Burns.

A demurrer and a motion to set aside the order granting a temporary injunction was filed by the defendants in the case of the Colorado Homestake Gold Mining company vs. T. F. and A. M. Peck in the district court yesterday. Plaintiff recently secured an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the plaintiff in his work upon and development of the Ajax and Anton lodes, and requiring the defendants to deliver to the plaintiff all tools and keys to the shop and shaft house upon the property. The restraining order also prohibits the defendants from transferring the lease upon lots 33, 34, 35 and 46, of school section 16, Teller county, and it is to set aside this order that the defendants now petition. Similar action was taken in an action entitled the Moro Mining, Milling and Prospecting company and E. C. Smith vs. T. F. and A. M. Peck, regarding an injunction on certain mining claims in the Beaver creek mining district.

Letters of administration have been issued by Judge Robert Kerr to Mrs. Mary H. Williams, as administratrix of the estate of her deceased husband, Charles M. Williams. The estate is valued at about $70,000 of which real estate in Colorado represents some $50,000. The bond was fixed at $40,000.

PRESENTED WITH PRIZES

ALL-STAR Y. M. C. A. TEAM LIONIZED LAST NIGHT BY FRIENDS AND YOUNG LADIES' AUXILIARY.

It was the "all around champs" night at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening. Fully 200 people gathered at the association to attend the public reception given by the young ladies' auxiliary to the members of the team that won the state indoor meet at Temple theater last Saturday.

The first part of the evening was spent in the gymnasium where the victorious team went through the different exercises which helped to win the shield. Just to show that they had lost none of their cunning the members of the association basketball team took on the Dutch academy team and defeated it by a score of 7 to 2.

Following the gymnastic games the team and its friends adjourned to the parlors where T. P. Barber presented the silver shield to the team and the second individual medal to John Hilbrand amid loud applause. J. G. Hotfer, the physical director, gave a short talk, telling how the members of the team had worked for the shield for three months.

A luncheon followed the presentation during which the team members were congratulated by their friends.

SHAKESPEARE.

First Recital Given Yesterday at Home of Mrs. Wm. Lennox for Benefit of Deaconess Hospital.

The first of a series of subscription Shakespearean recitals by Edgar C. Abbott, of Boston, Mass., was given yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. William Lennox, 1601 North Nevada avenue. Mr. Abbott, who is considered one of the best students and interpreters of Shakespeare, held the large audience with an intense interest throughout his exposition of "Othello."

Those enjoying the privilege of listening to Mr. Abbott's first lecture can not be induced to forego the pleasure and profit to be derived from the remaining lectures. The dates are as follows: Tuesday, February 7, Mrs. C. B. Bosworth, 1029 North Nevada avenue, "The Merchant of Venice," and Friday, February 10, Mrs. C. P. Dodge, 1206 North Cascade avenue, "King Henry the Eighth." The proceeds of the lectures will be used for the benefit of the Deaconess sanitorium.

INVITATIONS TO MEET MRS. BALLINGTON BOOTH

Mrs. H. H. Seldomridge has issued about 100 invitations to a parlor meeting to be addressed by Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth of New York, Monday, February 6, at 3 o'clock, in her home, 1015 North Nevada avenue.

Previous to the meeting Mrs. Seldomridge will entertain a small number of ladies at luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, to meet Mrs. Booth, who arrives from Denver that morning.

OLD GOODS MUST GO

Woolen Dress Goods

The new Spring Dress Goods so far received comprise many of the most desirable 1905 fabrics.

We mention here several exceptionally good values.

WOVEN DOT MOHAIR.

This is a very stylish fabric with self colored woven dots, desirable for waists, shirt waist suits and mid-Africa dresses. Good line of colors. 36 inches wide. Only 50c yard.

WOOL CREPES.

This very stylish 1905 fabric is especially adapted for dobby dress skirts, costumes and demi costumes. A line of stylish colors at 75c yard.

CHALLIES.

This always desirable fabric is here in the prettiest line of Dresden effects that we have ever shown. 27 inches wide and only 50c yard.

BLACK VOILES.

We have just received some very fine imported Voiles; they have that rich appearance obtainable only in the French goods. They are priced at 75c, $1.00 and $1.50.

A new Chiffon Voile at $1.50 is the finest we have ever shown.

Cotton Dress Goods

Many of the new Ginghams and white goods have arrived and you'll make no mistake in supplying your early Spring requirements now. These Ginghams are mostly imported goods and the patterns are confined to us. You'll not see them in every store.

The imported goods are priced at 15c, 25c and 35c in 50c yard.

Skirts, Waists and Jackets

Nearly every day we receive several styles of new garments. Quite a line of new Covert Jackets are here and they are nobby styles. The new waists thus far received comprise the first two shipments of Gelsha Waists. No need to tell you that Gelsha Waists are the most stylish of all.

There are only a few suits in so far but they are right up to the minute in style. You would not make a mistake in buying any one of them. Several silk suits were sold the day they arrived.

Thede goods and many others which we have not room to mention are marked at prices that are inducing many people to anticipate their needs.

ANACONDA PROSPECTS LARGE TONNAGE OF RICH ORE

Numerous Sets of Lessees Are Taking Out Ore That Makes Their Large Profits—Developement Work Is Showing New Bodies.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Conditions on the Anaconda estate owned by the Anaconda mining have improved so much during the past week that nothing, good of it will be surprising, and very much is expected of a right away, for development work is being pushed in all directions, and now and then bodies are being encountered daily.

Breathlinger and associates, operating block 20, have now attained a depth of 80 feet on the Excelsior claim, just below the point where the old Anaconda company mined something like $250,000 worth of ore, and are working in some very rich ore.

The operators are now drifting to open up more stoping ground and while the shaft is narrow, only measuring between eight and twelve inches in width, yet it produces an average grade of ore that is good for 10 ounces, or $200 to the ton.

On block 20, Newton and associates have a world of ore, and there is one streak measuring from five to eight inches in width that returns values of a little less than 60 ounces to the ton. Besides the rich streak they are breaking down at the present time four feet of ore that they say will show much better than $50 to the ton.

The find recently made by Pierce and associates in the bottom of the 100-foot winze sunk from the 400-foot level in the main tunnel is holding out remarkably, and up to the present time the ore has been proven for 50 feet in depth, all returning the same good values from top to bottom. This find is of the greatest importance to the company, as it assures the permanency of the big shoot with depth and proves beyond a doubt that below the barren zone wherever it is penetrated, richer ore shoots will be found than are now worked above.

The Anaconda company owns a tremendous acreage in and around the town of Anaconda, and but very little of it has been prospected. While many mining men have made or lost fortunes from their operations on this territory there may be fully as many more taken out, and the company is expected to certainly of the brightest.

ORE HAULERS INCREASE THE RATES FOR TRANSPORTATION

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—The producers located at a distance from the railroads are up against it once more and mining men who find it necessary to hire teams for the purpose of hauling the ore from the mine to the railroad are looking several ways on account of the general stiffening of prices on the hauling of ore.

There has been a tacit understanding between the two companies which control the business, these being the Colorado Trading and Transfer company, and the Cripple Creek Coal and Transportation company, and prices have always been kept at a point where profits could be maintained. There have never been any contracts or signed agreements for this part of the mining business, but of late schedules have been sent out, and some of the rates are a little higher than heretofore. Both companies contend that there is very little to be made over actual cost of maintaining teams and men in this mountainous country at former rates, and that they now decline to haul any more ore at a loss in order to supply the two lines of railroad with which they work in harmony.

Numerous times during the history of the camp, independent companies outside of these two concerns have commenced operations in this line in the district, but the competition was always so keen that it has never proven very successful. The local companies claim that it is very expensive business. They state that they lose horses at about the rate of two a month, these animals costing on an average of $200 to $300 apiece, and besides it cost $1 per day per horse to maintain him in this work, so the actual cost of a four-horse ore team, the one generally used, accompanied always by two men costs the company in actual expenses without wear and tear of wagons, $11.50 per day.

RICH ORE IN THE ELSMERE

BLAIR AND ASSOCIATES FIND SIX-INCH STREAK THAT RUNS $120 TO TON AFTER ONLY A WEEK OF PROSPECTING.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Discovery of material that yields $120 worth of gold to the ton, according to assay tests, has been made by Blair and associates in the Elsmere No. 1 claim of the Cameron Townsite company, on the north slope of Ironclad hill.

Values are contained in a mud streak six inches wide, lying on the north side of the shaft. They were found after a few days of prospection, work having been started but a week ago. This streak and other signs of wealth exposed in the property will be diligently followed.

SUNSET ECLIPSE

Next Week Will See Vigorous Operations in the Main Shaft.—New Machinery Installed.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Operations are to be started in a very vigorous manner in the main shaft of the Sunset Eclipse mine on Battle mountain. New machinery, gallows frame, etc., have been installed and operations should be under headway by the first of next week.

A few years ago this property contributed quite a large amount of rich ore towards each month's production, and as there remains much undeveloped territory belonging to this company, there is a probability of the operators locating the rich ore shoot already worked. Both the lessees and company think they have remarkably bright prospects.

NEW MACHINERY ON REGINA SAVAGE

NEW LESSEES ARE ALMOST READY TO BEGIN OPERATIONS. PROPERTY LIES WELL FOR PROFITABLE WORK.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 3.—Operators who recently secured a lease on the Regina Savage on Beacon hill are now installing a fine plant of machinery and are making preparations to commence active operations just as soon as the machinery is all in.

The Regina Savage company's territory being located next to the Gold Dollar Cons. company, lies in a pathway of many of many of the great veins of this hill and it will not be surprising to see the property entering the shipping list almost any day after operations are once started.

FAILED.

All efforts have failed to find a better remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles than Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. J. N. Patterson, Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Sold by The Hoffley-Arcularius Drug Co.

A good idea of the extent to which red tape is carried by the British army is given by the following paragraph from recent station orders at Aden: "Stationery—589. The G. O. C. sanctioned the purchase locally of a bottle of red ink under the financial powers granted to him in A. R. I. (Army Regulations, India). Vol. III. Para. 6 (ii.) and 7 (iii.)."

Thanks to Motherhood

335 Broad Street,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 12, 1903.

I suffered for nine years with ovarian troubles making life a burden to myself as well as to my family. During that time I had two miscarriages and although we longed for a child to bless our home this seemed impossible. I had constant racking bearing-down pains in the pelvic organs and a pulling through my limbs with frequent headaches. I felt sick at my stomach and vomited frequently and no medicine helped me until I tried Wine of Cardui.

Then my general health improved, the pains gradually lessened and after 18 weeks I was well. I am now the happy mother of a boy eighteen months old and my husband joins me in sending heartfelt thanks to you for your splendid medicine.

Without, I would have been a childless, instead of a happy and well mother. Mrs. Frederick Nirdlinger

CHAPLAIN, ST. ANDREW'S ASSOCIATION.

WINE OF CARDUI

Wine of Cardui is the most successful menstrual regulator. By regulating menstruation, Wine of Cardui banishes inflammation from the entire female organism and the strengthened ligaments bring the organs back to their proper place. This is what Wine of Cardui did for Mrs. Nirdlinger. It banished the racking pains and burning inflammation and brought her relief. She was restored to health and strength and gives Wine of Cardui the credit of making her able to become a happy mother. This medicine equips a woman for every duty of wifehood and motherhood. There are many suffering women who think that health can never be theirs because they cannot secure the services of a great specialist, but we want to say right here that while Mrs. Nirdlinger lives in Philadelphia, a great medical center, she depended on Wine of Cardui for a cure and she was cured. This same medicine is within your reach. Will you take it?

All druggists sell $1.00 bottles Wine of Cardui.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE.

While the trading at yesterday's call on the Mining Stock Exchange did not reach to the great proportions that have characterized the business for several weeks, yet prices were generally advanced in all the lists, and the stocks particularly all showed strength. Acacia opened at 11¼ and sold up to 11¾, with total sales of 16,000 shares. Anaconda registered material gains. The last sale Thursday was at 21¾. Yesterday the stock began selling at 22, and in the selling of 14,500 shares advanced from that to 23. Black Bell sold at 9. Dante scored an advance, selling at 6¾. El Paso was in better shape yesterday. The last previous sale was at $1.65. The opening sale was at this figure, and the stock gained rapidly to $1.70. Fanny Rawlings sold at 3¾, a fractional gain over Thursday. Gold Dollar was stationary at 8½. Isabella was not so strong. It opened at 15 off and dropped to 22¾. Lexington was slightly lower, 18,500 shares changing hands at 8½. Work sold exceedingly dead, opening at 15¼ and advancing to 15½. Gold Sovereign opened at 12½ and declined to 12¼, on the selling of 9,000 shares.

CROUP

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hoarseness, and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, the child will cry for it and at the first sign of a croupy cough apply freely Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Voiet, New Castle, Ind., writes March 19, 1902: "I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant to take." Sold by Hoffley-Arcularius Drug Co.

The Chicago Special

Reported Damage to Winter Wheat Causes Unusual Market Condition.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The feature in wheat trading was the relative strength and activity of the July delivery. The temporary supporting of the May option by more than a month was due to an active demand in anticipation of the possibility of a shortage of wheat during the months of June and July. Fear of this contingency was emphasized through a report by a St. Louis trade journal, that there were reports of damage to winter wheat by cold weather and snow fractures.

The market was also highly stimulated by the decision of Attorney General Moody regarding "dressbacks" of wheat imported 1.50 pound sacks into flour for export. Action of leading operators in buying July and selling May was a factor in causing disparity between the two leading options. After opening the market was quite firm, May being up 1¼@1½, at 1.17 to 1.17¼, July opened at 99¾@1. Precipitations of snows throughout the west and southwest caused some selling of July early in the session, but resulted in a rally to 1.00.

A leading bear bull spread was active seller of May, generally for sunny the price of that delivery sank lower. The same trader however soon started buying in quite heavily. Other traders followed the lead. From July rose to 100. Later in the day some reaction occurred on profit taking. Final quotations on July being at 100¼. The May delivery sold off to 1.16, and closed weak at 1.16.

Trading in the corn market was unusually quiet and prices showed almost no change. May closed at 47¾.

As a result of sales by cash houses and some local bears the oats market ruled easier but closed steady. May closed at 36¾.

Provisions [illegible]. At the close May pork and lard were weaker and lard was lower [illegible].

PRICE LEVEL ADVANCING

MOVEMENT IN STOCKS IS UNEVEN BUT FOSTERED BY ABUNDANCE OF MONEY TENDS CHIEFLY UPWARD.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—There was continued active speculation in stocks today and considerable further advance in the price level. The movement was irregular and intermittent, the advance shifting from one point to another. There was no definite basis to account for the demand which was based on general considerations and which was fostered by the extreme abundance of money.

Principal interest centered in railroads of the eastern part of the country, although there was some recurrence of strength later in the day in the Pacifics. Reading continued to be the leader of the market and the rapid enhancement in its quoted value had a material effect on the coalers and the Pennsylvania group particularly. Another motive for the marking up of the price of Pennsylvania was for the purpose of adjusting it to the recent wide advance in New York Central.

A movement in either one of the railroad stocks is certain sooner or later to be followed by the rest in order to preserve a certain parity between them. Pennsylvania is intimately associated by the growth in volume of the Atlantic companies in which it holds a dominant interest and especially by the increased dividend disbursements on account of its controlled stocks. The accumulation of Pennsylvania and its allies in the coalers was very rapid. Blocks of 100 to 600 shares were constantly transferred.

The announcement of the Southern Pacific extending payment of the dividend by the Pacifics, but did not carry the movement in them far. This also has already limited to such an extent in the previous rise in Both Southern Pacific and Union Pacific that its influence as a factor in the rise was largely exhausted before its announcement. There was some weakening in Rock Island after a long period of comparative inactivity, but the movement also was not well sustained. It seemed to be based on the information that the same plan of change of control in Kansas City Southern and Colorado and Southern as designed in the Rock Island interest. Atchison held back during the period of strength and was one of the first stocks to weaken.

The prospect of a prosecution by the Government under the anti-trust law of the Northern Securities company, especially in view of the proposed merger, tended to depress the whole subject. The severity to which the grain rate war is being carried must take some account of it in regard to the coming review of the grangers. A number of the stocks which have had unprecedented advances recently took the opportunity to dispose of recently acquired holdings.

The Delaware South Shore and Atlantic stocks were an exception and the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie stocks also were heavy. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha preferred, the purchase of the shares of which caused a rise of 22 points the other day relapsed today 25 points on a sale of 400 shares. The active realizing movement today was coincident with the appearance of the estimates on the week's money movement, showing a loss of cash by the banks of upwards of $7,000,000 due to the excess of gold exports over the receipts from the interior. The renewed strength of the coalers, however, and a rush to buy Missouri Pacific pulled the market up and made it closing strong. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,740,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Belgium is making preparations to celebrate next year the seventy-fifth anniversary of its independence from the Netherlands. Local committees are being organized everywhere and the government is expected to make an appropriation of $400,000.

MANITOU NEWS

FELL UNDER WAGON AND HAD HIS LEG FRACTURED

Sid Francisco met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon while driving one of the Duke cold wagons. He was delivering a load of ice at Chas. Johnson's saloon in Manitou. The wagon upset throwing him to the ground, the wagon being on top. He was severely bruised but escaped with no other injury than a fractured leg.

KING EDWARD'S SECRETARY.

Should you by any chance receive an autograph letter from King Edward or Queen Alexandra, says the Boston Herald, the royal signature may be there but they know nothing of the contents beyond the fact of having said to their secretaries, "Write this and sign."

To be the private secretary of popular sovereigns is no sinecure. Fifty or sixty letters a day is the average of her majesty's "correspondence," while the king's "duty" is doubled by state papers for his signature, which no one, of course, can save him the labor of writing. Royalty reads a letter and often limits its supervision to a laconic no or yes, scrawled on the margin; then Lord Knollys' and Miss Knollys, the queen's confidante, will take it and do the rest.

King Edward's skillful right-hand man extends this into the diplomatic style with which most people are familiar and long believed direct royal dictation. Such very privates notes as the king and queen do send to their families or intimates are discreetly burned, or buried in archives, from which it would be lese majeste to unearth them.

NEW TRAIN ON THE MISSOURI PACIFIC.

December 1, the Missouri Pacific railroad placed in service a new train between Kansas City and Hot Springs, Ark., leaving Kansas City about noon and arriving Hot Springs the next morning at 9:40. Returning, trains leave Hot Springs about 7 p. m., arriving Kansas City 3 p. m. next day. This train is first class in every respect, carrying dining cars for all meals. Call or write for information about the Nation's Great Sanitarium.

AMUSEMENTS

THE EARL OF PAWTUCKET.

"The Earl of Pawtucket," which will be given to this city for the first time at the Opera house Thursday night, February 9, is the work of the celebrated writer, Mr. Augustus Thomas and produced in New York, 1902, with Mr. Lawrence Deming in the title role. The production of the play was a success and play ranks about Barrie's "Little Minister" and Mr. Thomas' own "Arizona" in the metropolis for one solid year, afterwards it took up the parts in Boston, Philadelphia and other leading cities of the country. Opened in New York, [illegible] the Lyceum theatre, thus inaugurating the theatre's 50th history, as it had for forty years been [illegible]. Not only did it remain a lingering success, as a bauble to delight Patron of the theater to another, but it is the long deliberate play that has been known to linger throughout the land, [illegible] in a New York theater as it did at the Manhattan. It is the very merit of the play that evidenced by success in performance. Mr. Augustus Thomas's work is so remarkable from the fact that it introduced Mr. Lawrence Deming as a star for the first time. In one single night he got risen from the ranks of the ordinary actor to take his place on the front row of the stars of the day. Mr. Deming has justly been termed the "Twentieth century Dundreary" and the character he is now the native peer because Mr. Thomas declares that in writing his inspiration for the part came "Lord Dundreary" he obtained many of his points from every day association with Mr. Deming. For years these two have been actor and author together with the play right in so saying that Deming on the stage and off is "The Earl of Pawtucket."

WM. H. WEST BIG JUBILEE MINSTRELS.

William H. West's Big Jubilee Minstrels will be the brilliant attraction at the Opera house this evening. This attraction of a theatrical nature is better known in America than this and every time one comes it is sufficient to draw a packed house. Under the able direction of Sanford B. Ricaby, this firm as an organization has become a household word from one end of the country to the other, and its prestige is further increased each season by a better and bigger performance than the one before. In the present company this Mr. Ricaby offers, he has gathered the very cream of art and attractiveness. For he has grouped together the most famous black-faced comedians, dancers, and singers of the boards today, and added costly features, novelties, and other surprises that only his gigantic enterprise, the most talked of and greatest attraction in the world today, can afford. Mr. West's new [illegible] is a guarantee of all that is refined and in the best of taste, with no [illegible] to offend the most fastidious. The [illegible] show, which this season is represented with from [illegible] by one of the most flashy [illegible] ever [illegible] the road. The [illegible] features of the show are the great Karnell, king of the wire, Lavalette Bros. acrobats, M. Dorin & Kelly, the greatest living dancers, and last but not least, Frederick V. Bowers, the famous "author of Bowers" and "Mr. Bowers" Mr. Bowers was for 26 weeks the star of Kerrigan's big spectacle at the St. Louis fair.

DANCE AT ELKS' CLUB WAS THOROUGHLY ENJOYABLE

The dance given by Colorado Springs lodge No. 309, B. P. O. E., in the club house last night was well attended and proved to be one of the best of those held this winter. The committee, consisting of E. W. Thompson, R. O. Giddings and C. M. Lee, had the arrangements made to a nicety. The music was excellent. No special arrangements were made for supper but after the dance sandwiches and light refreshments were served in the cafe.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETIC LEAGUE

At the annual meeting of the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic league in Denver tomorrow, action will be taken regarding arrangements to be made with Kansas university for a series of baseball games in Colorado this spring. It is probable that football games will also be arranged with Washburn university.

Football, baseball and track athletic schedules will be adopted for 1905 at this meeting. The School of Mines is urging that a schedule of three games around be adopted for the baseball season.

Now that the University of Colorado has severed its connection, the league is comprised of Denver University, the School of Mines, the State Agricultural college and Colorado college.

Colorado college will be represented at the meeting by the following committee:

W. E. Hester, captain of the baseball team; James McClintock, manager of the football team; Loring Lennox, secretary-treasurer of the Intercollegiate association; W. G. Johnston, captain of the football team, and Bert Wasley, manager of the baseball team.

A Co[illegible] Clearing of Spring and Winter Merchandise

New spring goods pour in on all sides. Every freight adds to the list which is growing by leaps and bounds. Indeed, it is getting larger much faster than the list of winter stuff is growing small. It was our aim to make an advance display and start a movement of spring merchandise, yet we are compelled to dispose of winter goods. What to do has been a perplexing question we assure you. The summary below tells in brief what the concentrated efforts of this store's force has accomplished.
